No. 48. - One Reel

WHAT to do with a capsized canoe is the interesting first subject of this very interesting issue. The first thing is to keep cool and don't let the water dampen your spirits. If you paddle with your hands you can make two miles an hour. We then are introduced to John McIntyre, who, once a hobo, is devoting his life to reclaiming human driftwood as superintendent of the Whosoever Gospel Mission, Germantown, Philadelphia. He has righted the footsteps of more than 180,000 wanderers. Next, Dame Courtesy gives a lesson in "Watching your step" at a dance. The proper thing to do and say at all times is ably illustrated. In this day of chasing the old H. C. of L., Mr. P. A. Cimini, a Bucalo architect has invented a device which conserves precious space and makes one room serve as four. It is called a turn-table apartment. Landlords get many a smile out of letters from tenants, and some of these are included in this week's letter-laughs. This issue closes with a futurist movie of Secretary Lansing.
